

Six Sentenced For Abdullah's Murder Plot

Amman, Jordan (AP) — A special military court yesterday sentenced six men—two in absentia—to die on a charge they plotted the assassination of King Abdullah, who was slain in Old Jerusalem July 20. Four others were acquitted and freed.

The doomed prisoners include Dr. Moussa Abdullah El Hussein, 35, a cousin of the exiled former Mufti of Jerusalem.

The absentees are Col. Abdullah El Tel, a former officer of Jordan's Arab Legion described by the prosecution as the king-pin of the plot, and Moussa Ahmed El Ayoubi, accused of having been the colonel's go-between. Both are living in Cairo, out of the court's jurisdiction.

The three other condemned men in custody are Abed Mahmoud Okkeh, 32, his younger brother, Zakaria Mahmoud Okkeh, both cattle merchants, and Abdel Kader Farahat, operator of a coffee house in Arab-held Old Jerusalem.

The four men freed by the court were the Rev. Ibrahim Ayyad, 35, a Roman Catholic priest who was secretary of the Latin Patriarchate in Jerusalem; Kamel Abdullah El Kalouli, Jerusalem cattle dealer; and two brothers, Tewfik Salah El Hussein, 67, and Dr. Daoud El Hussein.

The Hussein brothers also are brothers of Dr. Jamal Bey El Hussein, who was foreign minister of the "Gaza government" which established itself briefly on Egyptian-held territory of Palestine in the Arab-Jewish war of 1948 as a rival to Abdullah's rule over the Arab part of Palestine.

In Cairo, El Tel said: "The verdict makes me laugh. Any court in the world would find me completely innocent." He denied all charges made against him at the trial, which he called a "mock trial before a tribunal appointed by Glubb Pasha (the British commander of the Arab Legion) especially to convict people at whatever cost."

King Abdullah was shot down at a mosque by a 21-year-old Moslem tailor named Mustapha Shukry Ashsho. The assassin was killed immediately by Abdullah's guards. He was reported to have been a member of a pro-Mufti terroristic band known as the Sacred Struggle organization.

El Tel was commander of the Arab Legion forces which drove the Jews out of Old Jerusalem in 1948. He became military governor and then civil commissioner in the old city, but finally broke with King Abdullah in 1949 and fled to Egypt.

Bill Passed To Restrict Soviet Trade

Washington (AP)—The Senate passed last night an administration bill to restrict trade between the Soviet bloc and countries receiving American economic aid.

The final vote on the measure was 55 to 16.

A group of Republicans fought it all the way as a measure too weak to meet the situation, but their opposition was broken when they failed by a 46 to 29 vote to send it back to the Foreign Relations committee for public hearings.

The bill would cut off all American aid to countries shipping arms and other prime military materials to Russia or her satellites. It gives President Truman discretion, however, to sanction other trading when it appears that the free world might gain strength from such an exchange of goods.

Vote With Majority

Washington (AP)—Both Senator Edward Martin and James H. Duff, Pennsylvania Republicans, voted with the majority yesterday when the Senate passed and sent back to the House a bill intended to cut off military trade to Soviet Russia and her satellites by denying U. S. aid to any nation making such shipments. The vote for passage was 55 to 16.

Former Governor Holds Lead In Mississippi

Jackson, Miss. (AP)—Former Gov. Hugh White widened his lead last night as returns slowly mounted in the heated race for governor of Mississippi.

In unofficial reports from 252 of the state's 1782 precincts, White was 1356 votes out in front of his second primary opponent, young Paul B. Johnson, Jr.

The count was:

White 12,765.
Johnson 11,277.

White and Johnson waged a name-calling second primary battle in a campaign which both agreed was the "most vicious" in state history.

Snydersville Man Injured At Fair Entrance

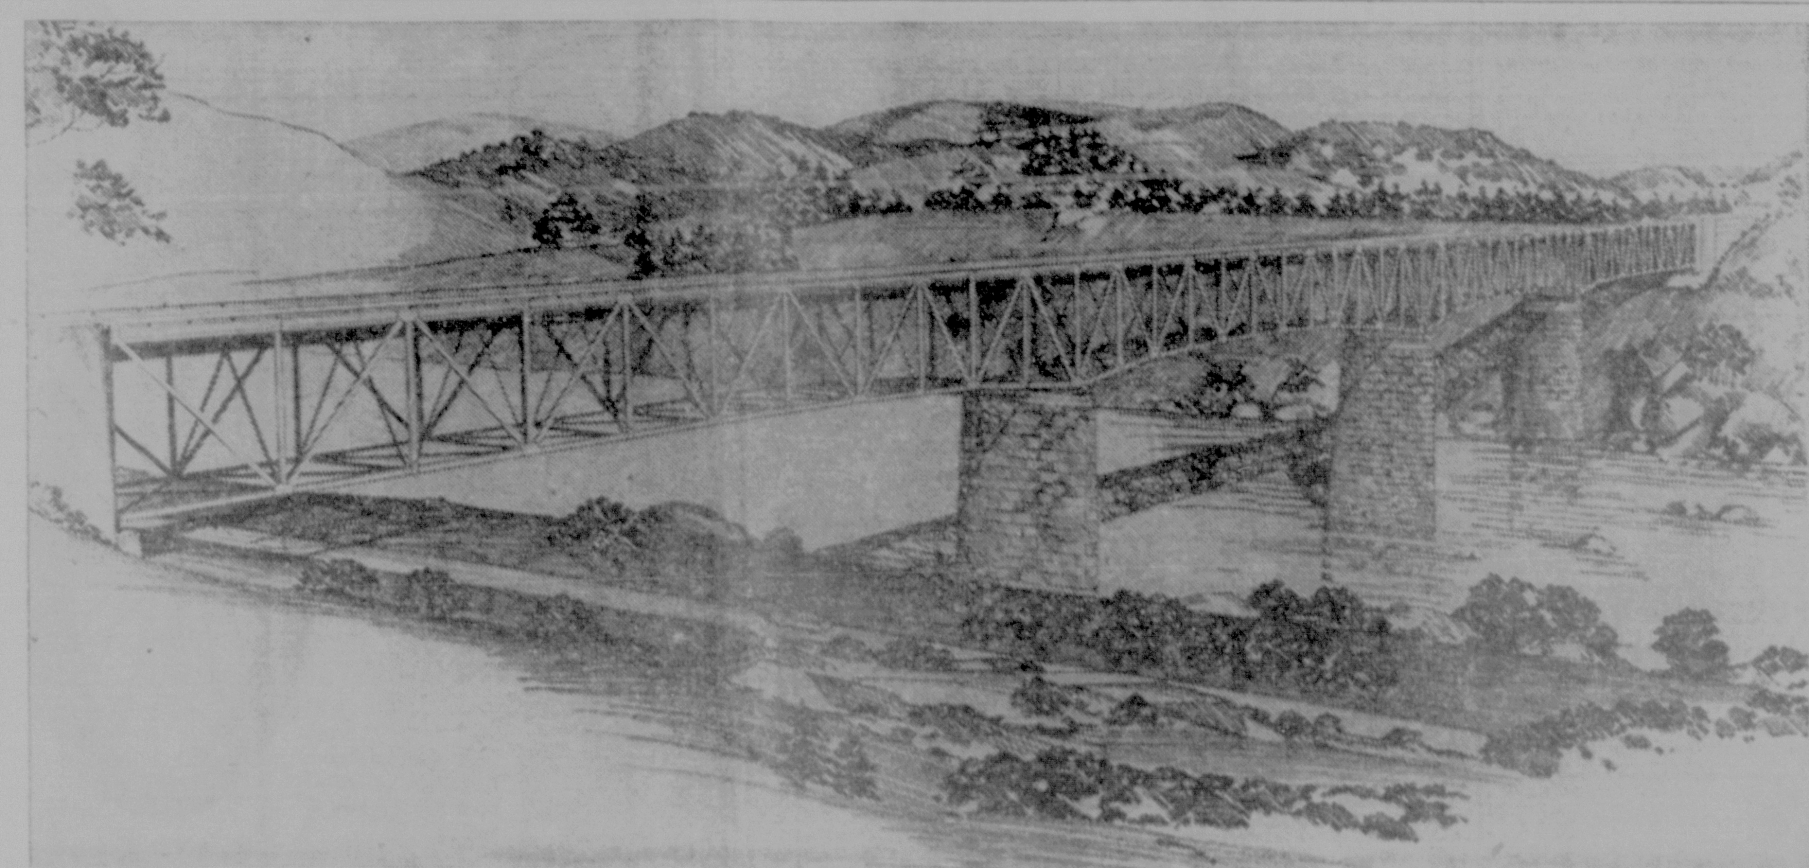

Hit By Truck While Fixing Car Damage

Gilbert — A Snydersville youth was struck by a truck last night two miles west of Brodheadsville on the road leading into the Gilbert Fair grounds.

Harry VanWhy Jr., 19, of Stroudsburg RD3, was treated at the scene by Dr. Reese of Gilbert, and then taken to the Monroe County General Hospital, where his condition was reported as fair last night.

According to state police from the Brodheadsville sub-station VanWhy had been going west on the road leading into the fair grounds when the left rear wheel of his coupe came off the automobile. As he was attempting to put the wheel on, a truck owned and operated by Beverly Robinson, of Delaware Water Gap, was coming east on the same road about five miles an hour and hit VanWhy, rolling him under the rear bumper of the car.

Due to the low rate of speed by the truck, no damage was reported to either vehicle.

Tokyo, Wednesday (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today flatly refused to investigate again the alleged Allied bombing of the Korean truce city of Kaesong.

But, in a message to Communist top commanders, he left the way open for renewal of truce talks.

Ridgway earlier had accused the Reds of faking the bombing.

The Allied commander declared that a further investigation as demanded by the Reds "could serve no purpose other than to continue this unjustifiable delay in the armistice negotiations."

The Communists suspended the talks last Thursday, asserting an Allied plane bombed the truce talk site the day before.

Ridgway again made clear that he was ready to send his negotiators back to Kaesong "when you are prepared to terminate the suspension of armistice negotiation."

The Allied commander said that on last Thursday night Col. Chang Chun-San, Communist Liaison officer, had refused an Allied request to continue the investigation in daylight.

"The offer you now make to permit a reinvestigation after this lapse of time could serve no purpose other than to continue this unjustifiable delay in the armistice negotiations."

A release from his office Tuesday night accused the Communists of "deliberate fraud" by staging the bombing incident with one of their own planes. The purpose, the release said, was to disrupt the Korean truce talks.

The release by Ridgway's public information office charged that the Reds created "an elaborately staged and quite obviously premeditated scene" in an attempt to trump up a "false charge."

Documents such as the public information office release have a peculiar position. They are official statements and are issued only after they have been given approval by the Allied high command.

While they do not necessarily reflect the final attitude of Ridgway and the U. N. command, they are the best indication of how the wind is blowing at the time of their issuance.

The release also suggested that the Communists may be using the present suspension of the cease-fire talks to manufacture more convincing evidence of bombing in an effort to bolster their original claim. That was probably the reason why the top Communist leaders called for a reinvestigation, it said.

Ridgway's headquarters previously had conducted a complete investigation covering all air units of the U. N. command. This "re-established conclusively" that no U. N. command aircraft was over Kaesong the night of August 22, the release said. It continued:

"Since no U. N. command aircraft was in the area, it is beyond doubt that this was a Communist aircraft."

It also noted that the attacking plane approached Kaesong with its headlights on—another indication that it was not a U. N. plane. Attacking Allied planes do not advertise their presence with lights.

Reviewing the on-the-spot investigation by Allied liaison officers the release said "the flimsiness of the so-called evidence offered and the transparency of the fraud were recognized and denounced... at the time of the investigation."

Six days later north Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-Huai proposed the investigation be reopened.

Truman Calls For Release Of Oatis

by Edward E. Bonar

Washington (AP) — President Truman, in an unusual lecture to the new Czech Ambassador, yesterday called on Communist Czechoslovakia to free William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent imprisoned on "espionage" charges.

While anti-Communist pickets paraded outside the White House, Mr. Truman declared that ever since the Reds seized power in Czechoslovakia and Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk was "murdered," relations with the United States have deteriorated. The best way to improve them, he said, is to free Oatis.

Mr. Truman had a four-minute meeting with the ambassador, Dr. Vladimir Prochazka, when the latter called to present his credentials. Usually such ceremonies are confined to the reading of cut and dried statements.

What happened this time, according to presidential press secretary Joseph Short, was this:

"The ambassador said he hoped to make our relations more cordial. The president replied that the best way to make our relations more cordial was to send our associated press correspondent Oatis home."

"The president further said that relations between our two countries had deteriorated ever since Jan Masaryk was murdered. Before that the president said that relations between the U. S. and the Republic of Czechoslovakia were wonderful."

"He mentioned the extreme friendliness of our political relations and the back and forth trade relations. But now the president said it looked as if our relations would not be what they had been unless Czechoslovakia changed its policies. The ambassador made no response to those remarks."

Today Prochazka meets with Secretary of State Acheson. The latter has said he will review thoroughly the 10 year prison sentence imposed on Oatis. Officials forecast that Acheson will make even plainer the widely held American resentment against Oatis' treatment.

United States, Great Britain, France To Give Economic Aid To Yugoslavia's Tito

Washington (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are making an immediate $50,000,000 start on an economic aid program aimed to help Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito contribute "to the security of the free world."

The whole bill is expected to come to more than twice that much this year—perhaps $150,000,000—with this country paying 60 to 65 per cent.

The plan is the outgrowth of conferences in London on means to bolster Tito's anti-Moscow Communist regime and enlist it more firmly in the defense line-up against Soviet aggression.

Tito, while maintaining his Red ideology, has been turning more and more to the west as Russia and its satellites build up pressure over his refusal to accept Kremlin dictation.

A tentative agreement was reached on the plan in June among the three big powers and talks are now going on with the goal of bringing other nations of the west into the effort. Caucasian support in particular is sought. The final size of the help program and of this country's share depend somewhat on those talks.

A $29,800,000 allocation from the Economic Cooperation Administration to buy cotton, coke and steel was announced today as the first installment.

ECA said Britain will soon announce its decision to make available $11,500,000 and informed officials said France is expected to start with $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

That is only for the first six months, with other allotments from those three and perhaps other countries to come along later, in about the same proportion.

The British government told the House of Commons last month of plans to put up about $28,000,000 by the middle of next year, out of a total estimated at that time around $150,000,000.

Yugoslavia already has had a total of $150,000,000 in loans and grants from the United States for military and economic supplies since Tito's government broke with the Kremlin.

The new $29,800,000 comes from funds transferred by President Truman out of the foreign arms aid program approved by Congress last year.

The previous help from here has consisted of $95,000,000 in outright grants for food and raw materials and $35,000,000 in three loans from the export-import bank.

Allies Hurl Back Six Red Attacks

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Wednesday, (AP) — Rain soaked Allied troops hurled back six Communist attacks yesterday in east-central Korea but were forced to withdraw from one hill position.

They won a hill and lost another northeast of Yanggu. Inconclusive fighting still was underway at nightfall in a ridge-line battle on the eastern sector.

AP Correspondent George McArthur reported that both Red and United Nations machineguns fired almost blindly in the mists as small groups of Communists assaulted the ridge, north of Yanggu, throughout the day.

Rain and mist, covering the whole battlefield, kept all but 42 Fifth Air Force planes grounded Tuesday and these conducted reconnaissance flights.

Ten B-29 superforts, however, got through to the Red west coast port of Chinnampo where they dropped more than 100 tons of bombs by radar sighting.

Balloon Barrage From Detroit

Detroit (AP) — A balloon barrage was unleashed on the east yesterday from Detroit.

Thirty big red, white and blue rubber and plastic bags filled with "freedom" leaflets and helium sailed up from the city hall steps and soared toward New York and Pennsylvania.

The ceremony was a re-enactment of the Munich balloon barrage of two weeks ago, which signalled the latest western method of piercing the Iron Curtain.

It served as the kickoff of a nation-wide drive by the Crusade for Freedom for men and money to expand informational activities in Communist and Communist-dominated countries. The movement is called "operation winds of freedom."

Mrs. Emmerich Resigns Post With Local Chapter Of SPCA

Mink Hills—Mrs. Eugene Emmerich, operator of the Monroe County SPCA Shelter for stray animals and pets here, announced yesterday she has resigned from her position.

Mrs. Emmerich said she had filed a notice of resignation and advertised her decision so that persons throughout this region who have been contacting her relative to strayed or lost animals and pets will know she is no longer associated with the shelter. Ill health was given as the reason for her resignation.

A meeting of the SPCA was held earlier this week at the Emmerich home here. At that time Dr. C. W. Dupee, president, received reports dealing with the shelter fund campaign.

There is now $1,700 in the fund. Including a recent addition of $250 realized from the benefit auction held last Sunday at the Emmerich home.

Various articles and goods donated by persons interested in aiding the shelter fund were sold with Wayne R. Foster, auctioneer, donating his services.

The SPCA now has some 300 members.

Mrs. Emmerich and her husband have given over their home to care and retention of all types of stray and lost pets pending their restoration to their owners or disposal to persons interested in giving the animals a home.

Hundreds of pets of various types have been handled in this manner by Mrs. Emmerich.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, (AP)—Corn and deferred wheat contracts made the best show last yesterday at the board of trade. Corn pushed upward on reports of foreign damage in some central Illinois sections. In wheat, there were reports of some light export business but no material liquidation checked advances. In the September contract, the bushel wheat was 1/2 lower to 1/2 higher, corn was 1/4 to one cent higher, oats were unchanged to 1/2 higher, soybeans were 1/2 to 2/3 lower and hard was 1 to 3/4 cents a hundredweight lower.

Bootlegging Again

Some of the familiar scenes of the unlamented bootleg days are being seen again, around the country.

The illegal hole-and-corner whiskey still of the 1920's is making its appearance. Only this time the still is bigger and the profits, presumably, larger.

The product probably is no better than the rot-gut of the prohibition period which, when pasted up with the proper labels, found a ready market at high prices.

But it must be finding a market. The illegal stills seized last year had a daily capacity of 200,000 more gallons than the legal industry had.

The tax-paying distillers, represented by Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., say that bootleg distilling now is a big-time, big-city, big-money operation.

Their point is, of course, that Federal taxes, as they get higher and higher, create greater incentive to adventurous people to go into the whiskey business and make big money by cheating the tax collector.

And there's no doubt about it. Every time the spread between the actual cost of the whiskey and its selling price is increased, there's a greater opportunity for the bootlegger.

Even in the average state, the $3.75 bottle of blended whiskey carries a combined tax burden of $2.07½, which is more than half what the customer pays.

In Pennsylvania, the citizen who steps up to the bar for a quick snort immediately becomes a heavy taxpayer, percentage-wise. Most of what he pays goes for taxes or State profits.

Pennsylvania has an excellent Liquor Control Law, and it seems, thus far, relatively free from the revival of bootlegging. But it might be in order for the Liquor Control Board to pay some attention to the effect of its price policies.

The Board buys its whiskey at a price which includes Federal taxes. It then adds its own flat markup to reach a retail price, and then tacks the State 10 per cent tax on that.

Thus, the Board taxes not only the value of the liquor, but also the Federal tax. And not just once, but twice.

This system produces revenues of 80-some million dollars a year for the State—and certainly the State needs it.

But we'd hate to see this fine business run into the ground by unwise and grasping price policies.

And if the Federal Government is unwise enough to increase its taxes in the face of the bootlegging threat, we suggest the Liquor Control Board take another look at its prices with a weather eye on possible illegal competition.

Balloons for the Czechs

Sponsors of the balloon "crusade" over Czechoslovakia say their scheme has "hit the target."

The "Crusade for Freedom," a private U. S. organization, sent 5000 balloons sailing in favorable winds over the Communist-bossed country. The balloons carried messages of "hope and friendship" and the wave-lengths of free-nation radio stations beamed at Czechoslovakia.

This "crusade" would be a useful stunt if it did nothing more than keep a small army of Communist straw bosses busy picking up the balloons—which it probably did.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Mr. Dooley, the immortal creation of Finley Dunne, once told his friend, Mr. Hennessey, "Whenever I read a sermon that the wurruld is goin' to pot, that the foundations in government is threatened, that the whole civilized society is in danger, that morality is blinkin', that men are becomin' drunkards an' women gamblers, an' that the future iv the race is destruction, I can always console meself with wan thought."

"What would that be?" asked Mr. Hennessey.

"It isn't so," said Mr. Dooley.

Illuminating footnote on the holy state of matrimony in Movieland: A starlet met an oil millionaire on Friday, married him on Monday and arrived in New York for a personal appearance (alone) on Thursday. A reporter asked the girl, "Do you miss your husband?" "Miss him?" she retorted. "I scarcely know him!"

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—"Rhubarb" is a mildly amusing fantasy about a monstrous alley cat who inherits $30,000,000 and a baseball team. Supporting this scrappy tshby in the cast are Ray Milland, as the club's press-agent, and Jan Sterling, as Ray's fiancée.

Every time the lovers meet, Miss Sterling starts sneezing. She's allergic to Rhubarb, the cat. And Milland has been detailed in the will of crotchety, wealthy old Gene Lockhart, who dies off early in the film, to guard Rhubarb.

Other complications involve Lockhart's mean daughter, who wants the fortune that Rhubarb got. And gamblers steal the cat, who's a good-luck charm for his team, to make the team lose. Seeking the catnappers, Miss Sterling sniffs around in Brooklyn for telltale allergic traces of Rhubarb.

This film adaptation of H. Allen Smith's novel, hardly ever uproarious, is at its best when Rhubarb is present—stealing golf balls, chasing dogs, or lordling it over a baseball game.

Paramount says it "interviewed" more than 300 cats before picking the 14-pound, orange-colored beast. Actually, counting doubles used in various long-range and trick shots, there were seven or eight Rhubarbs playing the role.

The film is the first to get in some digs at the movies' enemy, television. It does so by showing Miss Sterling's TV screen, over which she watches a baseball game, to be a blurry, eye-straining jumble.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

as a genuine authority in this field.

He used to be a Communist and must have been of some importance in the party in Germany because in 1929 (the date is important) he attended the second Congress of the League against Imperialism, at Frankfurt-Am-Main, where, now prime minister of India, was present as was Chi Chao-ting, who represented China. According to Wittfogel, Chi was then employed in the Comintern in Moscow, the central agency of International Communism. Dr. Wittfogel testified before the McCarran committee:

"... In order to be permitted to work in the Comintern, which is the headquarters of the Communist movement, you have to be not only a rank and file member of the movement, but a very well trained and extremely well equipped man."

The McCarran committee produced a letter written by Edward

C. Carter on August 1, 1941 to Mrs. Dudley Stuart Blossom, concerning the achievements of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which contains this data concerning Chi and related subjects:

"You doubtless know that on President Roosevelt's nomination, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek invited Owen Lattimore to go to Chungking as his personal political adviser. Lattimore arrived in Chungking ten days ago. Another member of the International secretariat, Dr. Chao-ting Chi, went with our best wishes on the same plane to become general secretary of the American - British - Chinese currency stabilization fund of U. S. $95,000,000. Here we have a case of outstanding services of the I. P. R. in that of Lattimore, an American to the Chinese government and in that of Chi, a Chinese to the American-British and Chinese governments. A former member of the secretariat, Irving Friedman, for whom I secured an appointment and an opportunity to study India as an employee of the Indian government trade commissioner in New York, has now been given an important research position in the treasury in Washington, one for which he is highly qualified."

"Officers in the Army, Navy, Federal research bank (must mean reserve), Department of Commerce and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supplies are asking for and getting substantial help from our research staff."

"Another demand of a different kind has been made upon us. Mr. Henry R. Luce, Mr. Wendell L. Willkie and Mr. James G. Blaine have asked me to serve as chairman of the disbursements committee which is making a very thorough-going survey of China's needs and how the $5,000,000 fund, if raised, can best be spent for maximum relief and at the same time to contribute to long-range reconstruction."

It is amazing how these busy people get into all kinds of situations. Actually, they do it by pushing themselves forward and encountering little resistance.

We now have the sworn evidence of Dr. Wittfogel that Chi was a Communist in 1929; yet he managed to move about this country, getting into all sorts of activities, mainly through the Institute of Pacific Relations, and was accepted at face value. To the Chinese, he seemed to be important because of the powerful people he knew in the United States. But what made him important to the Americans?

Here is a character, Michael Greenberg, whom Wittfogel says he met in Cambridge, England, and whom he knew as an English Communist. He then shows up in the United States as connected with Pacific affairs, which Owen Lattimore edited. This man was employed in the White House as assistant to Lauchlin Currie.

The United States Civil Service commission wrote Senator McCarran on July 13, 1951:

"Michael Greenberg was appointed to a position with the Board of Economic Warfare on November 9, 1942. On July 7, 1944 he was transferred to the Foreign Economic Administration and on September 27, 1945, he was transferred to the Department of State. His employment was terminated due to reduction in force on June 15, 1946. In connection with his employment with the Foreign Economic Administration, an investigation of Mr. Greenberg was conducted by the Civil Service commission to determine his general qualifications for federal employment. As a result of this investigation Mr. Greenberg was barred from competing in Civil Service examinations on March 7, 1947 because of questionable loyalty."

How did these people get into those places? Who opened the door for them?

Broadway and Elsewhere

Judy Punches For Her Old Love

Judy Garland will headline the Palace for a run, opening Oct. 16. . . . This is the most amazing theatrical announcement of the year. . . . It means, first, a return to the two-day big-time reserved-seat policy at the traditional actors' paradise on Broadway, the jeweled show-case of vaudeville in the period of its pride and its glories.

Judy, one of our great native artists, who has returned from a series of music hall triumphs in England, was born with vaudeville blood and raised in a variety family. The ambition of her younger days was to play the Palace, and she never made it. Now that she can play anywhere, she will reprise the high spots of her stellar repertoire, holding the entire second half of the bill, for 65 to 75 minutes.

Her schedule may not be exactly the conventional two-a-day. There will not be seven matinees, and on week-ends she will appear three times daily. No figure for her pay has been set. She will receive a percentage of the gross receipts in the 1,700-seat house at raised, but not forbidding, admission prices. . . . "Personal appearance" wages these days are so grotesquely huge that they no longer make sense. Bob Hope is getting $15,000 a show—$10,000 a minute—with a medicine outfit. . . . Judy could command $50,000 or so a week at the Roxy. But she refuses to take on the multiple frolics, and, if she had any such thoughts, the William Morris Agency, her managers, would discourage her.

This may lead again to an attempt at reviving a circuit. The bottleneck is the standard of salaries set by such attractions as Martin and Lewis ($35,000 a week) and other surefire stand-outs. No vaudeville theater can play to such a total gross. And if several top names can be induced to do their part toward bringing back the institution, few of them can carry on for a substantial part of a season, for they have commitments in movies, TV, radio, or at special events which can pay them more in a night than vaudeville could in weeks.

Sol A. Schwartz, president of RKO Theatres, who is taking the long step with Judy, cannot yet foresee the future possibilities. He realizes all the handicaps and stumbling-blocks. It was he who turned the Palace back to "flesh" shows, against my advice, with a policy of "family" acts. He made headway, but a one-theatre "circuit" is impracticable; and one of the most expensive pieces of real estate in America cannot prosper with living talent at low prices, even if it has available the 400 trained and fresh turns a year required to keep it going, which in these days is impossible.

were used as an escape route under the Mainz river. AFN crewmen, with beat up equipment and very little money, are a big hit, whereas the Voice of America with its fancy equipment has to spend considerable time trying to sell itself so it can hold listeners. The American soldiers manning AFN microphones know what sells Americans overseas. And that is people just like they are, with in-born good taste, a sense of humor—often displayed by telling creepy stories about strange sounds in the night that come from 12th century castles, and, more than anything a great and basic love for their own land—the U. S. A.

The AFN boys lay it on the air waves without any angles or diplomatic guff. It's very refreshing to hear, and extremely popular over here. They ought to get some of the Voice of America dough.

That Judy will be a sustained capacity draw is beyond question. But after that come the problems, maybe insurmountable. . . . I hope not. . . . I have been a vaudeville fan and devotee for many years, loved it, contributed to it, worked for it. . . . I am sure that, were Walter Winchell writing today's column, he would express the same sentiments, in his staccato, unique style, though he, wise in show business, would see the complications and complexities in the way of restoring an art and pleasure form so long dormant.

I don't know that he measures up to the objective, but Pablo Rousseau, of Mexico, is the new escort of glamorous Doris Lilly, author of "How to Meet a Millionaire" . . . Clara Lee Sukin, young New York interior decorator, arrived in England last Wednesday. After a two-day registration period required by British law, she married Lou Levy, 38, song-publisher and manager of the terrific Andrews Sisters, and until two years ago the husband of Maxene. The newlyweds are in Paris on their honeymoon. . . . They say Jane Wyman has found love again, and the lucky fellow is Judd Downing, a lawyer. . . . Rose Perfect is in Wantagh, N. Y., recovering from a torn chest muscle, but will soon star in a new show. In October, she will marry E. I. Wagner. . . . Paul Dudley, who is being divorced by comedy-star Joy Hodges, is seeing his ex-wife, Louise Fiske.

My son, Jack, Jr., who writes a Hollywood column, sprung an innovation on the "Drop dead" school of imprecations: "Take a long walk on a short pier!"

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Richter is 60 years old, and work isn't exactly to his liking.

Every once in a while he'd make a few cents distributing advertising "literature" — but he didn't feel much like walking today.

As you probably know, West Madison Street in Chicago is known as Skid Row—the last refuge of bums and derelicts.

Richter occupied a 65-cent-a-day room in one of the street's creep joints. Where he got the 65 cents a day to pay for the room is a mystery.

So here he was standing occupied with the problems of how to raise funds—a problem with which most of us are familiar.

Suddenly a voice called out his name.

It was the manager of the hotel where he was stopping.

The man was all excited. He had just listened to the news on the radio and learned that Everett Richter had been left $12,500 by his mother in Pentwater, Mich., and that the executors of the estate were trying to locate him.

Richter took the news calmly, but his pals in Skid Row did not. First they took him to the Travelers' Aid Society where he got a thorough cleaning up and a decent suit of clothes.

Then they bought him a ticket on the bus—and they put him aboard, just to see that he made it, sober.

In the meantime the reporters and photographers had rushed to the scene.

For the first time in his life, Everett Richter had achieved fame.

What was he going to do with all that money?

Well, the first thing he was going to do was to throw a big party for all his pals of Skid Row—a party such as the Row had never seen before.

That party would cost a thousand dollars.

Next he was going to take a better room in a better hotel.

He has been paying 65 cents a day. Now he would pay about dollar.

Next—

Everett Richter thought and thought and THOUGHT.

What WAS he going to do with all that money?

For thirty years Skid Row had been his home.

For thirty years he had known little work, lots of booze—and made thousands of friends, all derelicts, bums, castaways.

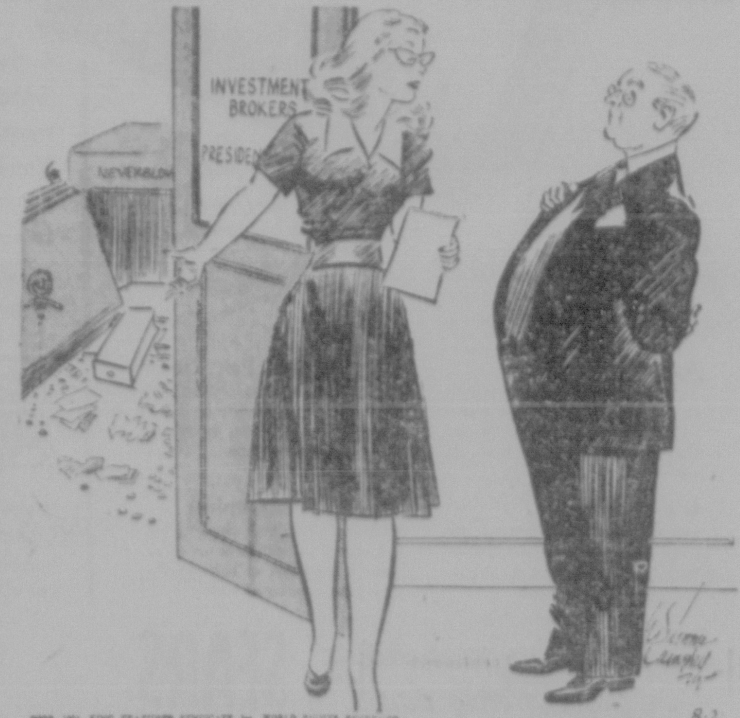

The bus was about to leave. As he was climbing aboard, cameras clicking and his pals giving him a rousing cheer, he waved to them and shouted:

"I'll be seen' you!"

And he will—you can bet on that!

Emergency Emil Writes Again

Dear Babe,

As I write this the cease-fire "in-one-door-and-out-the-other" conferences have been called on account of darkness. (There was not enough darkness for the kind of darkness required by the Com-mies for successful negotiation with anybody). Of course, by the time you get this letter they may me on again but these huddles have been deadlocked from the beginning and have been as dead at all times that we should of sent painbearers instead of negotiators.

The huddles have not been a total loss. They have set a new all-time record for waste motion, mutual suspicions and fast adjournments, in fact they had almost succeeded in coordinating the opening and closing of one and the same meeting. Coming to an agreement with the Reds was like trying to make head-way in a barrel of live eels. There wasn't a member of the Commie delegation who didn't have more wiggles than Sally Rand. Every day was just another day for testing them for new suspicions and new tricks. Each meeting nothing but a rush for exits. A guy no sooner said, "The meeting will come to order," than the next voice you heard was "So long until tomorrow."

Admiral Joy got so confused at the end that in entering a conference he often met himself going out. He had to give himself secret passwords to avoid mixups. I was on the G. I. detail and I saw some of our delegates back into the true headquarters so they would be headed in the right direction for the adjournment. These were the only conferences in military history where they had to put the "No Parking" signs inside the building. If any delegate stayed more than a half hour he got a ticket.

Well, Babe, it looks to me like the Reds have just used us for suckers again. They got two months to rest, build up their armies, refresh their recollections, get a new load of supplies from Moscow and make Malik look good. It is okay to be peace loving but it is necessary to be dumb also? Not once did the Reds give in on any important point. They would not even agree with us on the right time. We might just as well have saved our delegates for more important work and sent Dagmar here. She goes everywhere else.

Malik should get a decoration from Joe Stalin as the Man Who Done Most to Prove the Allies Never Learn. And Uncle Sam should get an extra ration of aspirin, a sheriff's badge from General Hopalong Nam, a box of crumchies and a pass entitling him to batter his way through stone walls with his noggin. We got accused of everything at the cease-fire meetings except putting poison in the soup, dropping germs on the rice crop and cheating at canasta. General Nam is the coldest turkey on either side. (He is really deep-freeze unit with epauletts).

Well, all we can do is hope for the best and I have a hunch our side is all set to do some high, wide and fancy clobbering if the war really gets into high again. Write me a long letter telling me how things are with you. (Describe a home-cooked meal to me. It will be a great help to my morale.)

All my love,

EMIL.

Three New Industries Seek Location In Stroudsburg Area

Nu-Maid Situation Discussed

Industrial Committee of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce yesterday studied three proposals dealing with new industry locating in this region, one of which might involve erection of a new building.

Meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, the committee assembled all available data on the three prospects, but concentrated immediate attention on a metal trades firm which may require a new building.

Senator Montgomery F. Crowe, chairman, said one of the prospects is a paper trades firm with several plants throughout the country and a high financial rating.

This firm is interested in expanding its operations and has a definite interest in the Stroudsburg region. The chairman said he expected to confer in New York City next week with executives of the paper trade manufacturing concern in order to pin-point the requirements of the operation.

Lack of available industrial buildings here at the present time, caused the committee to turn its attention to possible revival of the plan used to provide a building for Tru-Matic Machine & Tool Co.

Some modified form of this industrial building financing may be utilized in dealing with one of the prospects which has a high financial rating and probably will be able to help finance some of its own building construction.

The committee discussed the Nu-Maid Hosiery Mill shut-down, but lacking any official data at the time of the meeting no action could be taken.

Industrial interest in this region has picked up in the last few weeks, officials said. They cite a number of factors:

Realization that the $35,000,000 Signal Depot at Tobyhanna is "a sure thing" and that Coalingham Township officials have gone a long way with their New Town Development plan has focused a great deal of attention on the region.

Recent announcement that some $15,000,000 will be spent on construction of three new highway bridges across the Delaware River with first bids due to be opened on September 14 has also centered major attention on the region.

Careful follow-up work was launched yesterday by the committee on all three industrial prospects.

Lee Named Junior Varsity Football Coach At Regular Meeting Of Bangor School Board

Bangor—Thomas Lee, of Pen Argyl, a Bangor High school faculty member, was elected JV football coach at a salary of $200 by the Bangor School Board at their regular meeting held last night in the Annex building. Brylen Strunk, president, presided.

All the members were present except Edward Finkbeiner, so there was no treasurer's report at last night's meeting.

The athletic committee reported that season tickets for the coming football season would go on sale September 12, and declared that money orders would be accepted as legal tender.

The education committee approved the admission of minors to the first grade this year should there be such a request. The Pennsylvania educational system school law provides that "at the beginning of the school term, pupils entering the first grade must be five years and seven months before September 1. Provisions for beginners less than five are that a minor may be admitted if he shows that he has a mental age of six years, and if such admission is recommended by the county supervisor of special education or if the applicant has a certificate from a certified public school psychologist."

The board made an inspection of all school buildings and approved them ready for the opening, September 5.

Services of Dr. A. L. Billig, to test pupils in the special class, were approved by the board for September 19, 20 and 21.

The following new teachers were approved for the coming school year: Robert E. Doney, art; Dorothy Fichel, business administration; Margaret Stella, home economics; Olive Hamm, English, and Ruth E. Thomas, elementary teacher in the fourth grade.

Superintendent Donald B. Keel was given permission to attend the annual educational conference at Harrisburg September 27-28.

Registration of pupils and students to date revealed the following: Grade school, 387; junior and senior High school, 696; special class, 10; for a total of 1093.

Superintendent Keel thanked the board for the improvements made in both his and the principal's office.

Wage Board Approves Pay Increases

Washington (AP)—The wage stabilization board yesterday approved a nine and one-half cent hourly wage increase for 84,000 woolen textile workers.

The unanimous decision gave approval to only part of the wage increases negotiated last March 15 by both CIO and AFL textile workers with the American woolen company and other firms.

The board said the amount approved was six and one-half percent above present levels, equaling the cost of living increase measured by the government between August 15, 1950 and February 15, 1951.

By its decision yesterday, the board cleared the way for action on 111 similar cases, of which more than 100 involve the CIO textile workers.

The increases will be effective as far back as March 15 but will depend on the effective date of the negotiated contracts.

About 23,600 workers of the American woolen co. and 60,600 in the other textile firms are affected.

Light System In Residence Requires Plan

The old-fashioned telegraph pole was unsightly, but for years it was tolerated because it served a purpose. Then engineers worked out a system for concealed telegraph and telephone lines, and the appearance of some cities was greatly benefited. Old-fashioned lighting systems in the home often had as little claim to beauty as a telegraph pole, but likewise they were tolerated because they served a real purpose.

Today there are the concealed and indirect lighting systems as well as those in which all fixtures are exposed.

Not so many years ago the lighting of a house was not considered and the needs ascertained accurately. The lights were placed without much regard as to whether they were in the best place possible to furnish the most light. The term "footcandles" was not known and the amount of light a matter of little moment or not known.

Today the special uses of a room are taken into consideration, as are other factors, and lighting is ranged to fully service the needs. In planning a home today the services of an illuminating engineer are often recommended. He will inform the owner as to the needs and arrangement for a simple, effective, and efficient wiring system.

Check On Home Before Winter

As the fall and winter approach, the wise home owner prepares his home for the fall rains and the winter's snow and cold. Just as the ravages of cold weather take their toll of a house, so does the summer heat disturb various exterior details and trim of a house.

Joints will open up, putty will dry out and fall away from the window sash, paint has taken a beating and scales off, and so it is well to make a good inspection of the exterior of your house and prepare for winter. Storm windows, weather strips and storm doors should be repaired and repainted where necessary. Chimneys and brickwork should be examined and all joints pointed up.

The furnace or heating plant probably needs attention. Perhaps it has not been given a thought since it was closed down last spring. Clean the firepot, cement up the seams, inspect the piping, ducts and the smoke pipe that takes the smoke away from the furnace to the chimney—all should be gone over and reconditioned. Look at the dampers and go over any electrical devices, fans and dust filters. If you have a gas or oil burner they should also be cleaned and serviced, so when you need the heating plant all will be in fine working order.

Sewers and catch basins should be cleaned and any valves that control any outside water taps put in condition.

If one has an open porch, it may be desirable to enclose it with glass. Enclosures may be either permanent or temporary. Double-hung windows may be used, which will give one ventilation through half the opening or, and better, use outswinging casements with a crank adjuster to open the sash, in which case the screens will be on the inside.

Large Closet Needs Light

All closets with more than nine square feet of floor space, or deeper than 24 inches, should be equipped with electric lights.

A switch in the door jamb, similar to that on a refrigerator, will turn on the light automatically when the door is opened. A 25-watt bulb is sufficient and it should be placed close to the ceiling, away from the contents of the closet, to avoid fire danger.

Army scientists developed a chemical that turns mud or sand into solid ground.

Home Buying Often Less Than Rent

Under today's long-term, low-interest mortgages, the monthly outlay in buying a home is often less than rent, even after figuring year-to-year maintenance expenditures, says the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Since no down payments are demanded from war veterans by many builders, and initial payments required from other buyers are a smaller percentage of the purchase price than in previous years of building activity, home ownership is rising throughout the country.

The family which buys a $10,000 home with a $2000 down payment and executes a 5 per cent payment for 25 years pays less than $65 per month. This includes $46.80 on interest and principal, an estimated $12 for property taxes, and $2.50 for property insurance and water.

Monthly outlay of a veteran buying the same home with no down payment is estimated at between $65 and $70. Although the veteran borrows his money at 4 per cent under the GI Bill of Rights, lack of down payment makes the mortgage $2000 greater than the civilian's. Hence monthly amortization payments are $52.80.

No fixed estimate on maintenance of a house has ever been made, but many mortgage lenders say that 1 per cent of the cost of the house per year is a fair figure. This is largely offset by allowable income tax deductions for mortgage interest. Many states also have laws which exempt war veterans from paying property taxes on that part of their home investment which comes from bonus or pensions for war service.

Truck Driver Killed

Pittsburgh (AP)—An Ambridge truck driver was killed yesterday and his wife and a third person seriously injured in a two-car head-on collision on the Ohio River boulevard at nearby Ben Avon.

Dead is Walter Dennis, 28, driver for the P. M. Moore Co. of Aliquippa. His wife, Mary Jane, suffered a possible skull fracture.

Other officers named were Thomas M. Flaherty, Pittsburgh, vice president; Donald L. Orner, Harrisburg, secretary, and William Warmhessell, Bethlehem, treasurer.

Peter J. Haley, Upper Darby, was chosen chairman of the executive board. Other members are Adolph Schock, Altoona; James Madden, Philadelphia; Verne Rodgers, Oil City, and Paul Abernathy, Bradford.

Elected delegate at large was Kenneth C. Lutz, of New Castle. Charles Schueichman, Chambersburg, was named alternate delegate.

Members of the ladies auxiliary of the association elected Mrs. Michael A. Grzywinski of Scranton, president; Mrs. Marjorie Kaley, Williamport, vice president; Mrs. Alice Dennison, McKeesport, secretary, and Mrs. Marian Still, Bethlehem, treasurer.

Second Burn Victim Dies

Chambersburg, Pa. (AP)—A second person died yesterday from burns received when a retired railroad worker tried to light an oil cook stove Sunday night to boil some coffee.

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Shade, 68, died in the Chambersburg hospital from burns received in the same explosion that fatally burned her 67-year-old husband, William Shade, 24 hours before.

A daughter in law and her two children suffered shock and smoke inhalation as a result of the blaze.

Raymond Hersick of Pittsburgh is in serious condition with possible fractures of both legs.

Hunters Asked To Wait For Special Permits

Harrisburg (AP)—Pennsylvania hunters, seeking special deer permits, were asked yesterday to wait until September 20, before sending in applications.

Otto F. Messner, state revenue secretary, said that since the new licensing laws went into effect only recently his department has not yet received license forms from the printers.

One law requires a special license of $1.10 for antlerless deer hunting, in addition to the regular $3.15 hunting license.

The other new statute permits statewide hunting for buck with bow and arrow. The bow and arrow season runs from October 15 to 27 while the regular deer season extends from December 3-13. The antlerless season runs two days from December 14-15.

"Our license section is being swamped with requests for these two types of permits," said Messner. "Since the proper forms are not yet available, we have no alternative but to return the money to the senders."

Each county treasurer, as well as the revenue department, can issue licenses to hunt antlerless deer, Messner explained, but the archery licenses come from the department of revenue only.

Special House Tax Group Reports New Revenue Needed To Balance State Budget For Two Years

Harrisburg (AP)—A special House tax study committee reported yesterday it was found that $138,000,000 in new revenue will be needed to balance the State budget the next two years.

The Republican committee is attempting to work out a tax program acceptable to the tax-deadlocked general assembly.

The committee reported after concluding a second day of sessions that the $138,000,000 will be needed to meet State expenses. The figure is the same as decided upon recently by a senate Republican tax committee.

"After a thorough examination of the governor's budget requests and appropriation bills acted upon by the general assembly, the House caucus tax committee agrees with the estimate of the Senate as to the amount of additional revenue required during the 1951-53 biennium," the committee reported.

The committee concluded its second day of work without reaching final agreement on a tax program. It said, however, it has added nine more taxing possibilities to the 20 now under study.

The committee declined to specify the tax items under consideration but they are known to include reenactment of the lapsed cent-a-bottle soft drinks tax; increased levies on beer and cigarettes, and gross receipts on public utilities as well as new levies on tobacco products and real estate transfers.

The eight-man House committee was set up to try and work out a tax program after the general assembly reached a stalemate on the issue. The deadlock occurred after the House passed a proposed State income tax which later bogged down in the Senate after encountering GOP opposition.

The income tax was proposed by Gov. John S. Fine to plug a $119,000,000 hole in his $1,220,000,000 State budget for the next two years. Fine's estimate of new State costs did not include a proposed $9,000,000 salary increase for State employees or a $47,000,000 boost in State school subsidies.

Rep. Charles C. Smith (R-Phil.), GOP floor leader and tax committee chairman, said the State Revenue Department and the budget director were asked yesterday for estimates of return under the nine new proposals under study.

He said also that Attorney General Robert E. Woodside was consulted as to the constitutionality of the various tax items under study.

Smith said it was decided also that if the committee reaches agreement on a concrete program before the Legislature reconvenes, September 17, a Republican House caucus will be called prior to that date to endorse or reject the program.

Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk), House speaker, and a committee member, meanwhile said the group is studying all types of taxes possible.

"We have taken a look at all taxes we could find," he said.

The office of Dr. E. J. Denning will be closed Aug. 27th to Sept. 5th.—Adv.

Little Foxes Next Hit At Playhouse

Mountainhome — Ruth Chatterton, lovely Broadway and Hollywood star, in the stellar role of "The Little Foxes," will be the next attraction here at Pocono Playhouse, opening next Monday, September 3.

One of the most outstanding dramas of the last decade, the tense, exciting and sinister "The Little Foxes" is an arresting story of the cruelty, greed and grasping ambition of a hate-filled southern household of 1900, and has been called one of the most finely wrought dramas ever written by an American. It tells the story of the cunning and vicious Hubbard clan—Regina, Ben and Oscar, who enter into an agreement with a rich northern investor to build a cotton mill. Villainy of the three "foxes" stops at nothing, not even with the virtual murder of Regina's invalid husband. From the moment the curtain rises on the first act, tensions begin to mount and moves swiftly and surely to a shattering conclusion.

Miss Chatterton will be seen in the role of Regina, with the supporting role of her sickly husband played by Barry Thomson. Miss Chatterton, considered one of the great actresses of the American theater, has been a Broadway luminary since she played opposite the late Henry Miller. She achieved Hollywood eminence with her brilliant performances in such motion pictures as "Madam X," "The Doctor's Secret," "The Right to Love" and "Dodsworth." In addition to being a brilliant actress, Miss Chatterton has added to her laurels as author of the best sellers, a novel called "Homeward Bound."

Barry Thomson, appeared with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne on Broadway in "Idiot's Delight," "Taming of the Shrew" and "Amphytrion '38." He also appeared with Katherine Hepburn in "Without Love." Opposite his wife, Ruth Chatterton, he has been seen in "Pygmalion," "Private Lives," "O Mistress Mine" and "Second Best Bed." For the past several years he has been active in radio and television.

The play "The Little Foxes" will continue throughout the week with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

AFL Leaves United Labor Policy Committee Revealing Its Aim Is Merger Not Cooperation

Washington (AP) — The AFL yesterday broke up the nine-month-old United Labor Policy Committee and revealed that its major aim is merger—not just cooperation—with the CIO.

The ULPC was formed by AFL, CIO and other unions to speak with a united voice in presenting the unions' case during the defense mobilization drive. It represented most of the nation's unions, except the United Mine Workers and four rail brotherhoods.

AFL leaders withdrew from the 14-man committee in a formal statement handed to the CIO members yesterday. The AFL men said the committee had accomplished its purpose—one of which was to obtain representation of unions in government posts dealing with mobilization policy.

The CIO, in a reply issued by President Philip Murray, called the AFL move "regrettable."

"In bringing about the downfall of the ULPC the AFL has scuttled a method of inter-union cooperation that has won the acclaim not only of union members but of the general public," Murray said.

"It is, of course, completely erroneous to visualize the problems—both national and international—that led to the creation of the ULPC as completely solved and belonging only to the pages of history. Everyone knows that our nation and our labor movement must deal, now and in the years ahead, with a host of critical issues."

As for the AFL proposal for merger, Murray said:

"We in the CIO can visualize no advantage—to labor or the nation—in destroying the successes of the present for the theoretical advantages of an uncertain future. We have been unable to understand why discussions on the question of eventual merger of the CIO and AFL might not have proceeded in the ULPC itself; or through separate unity committees of the two organizations, while the ULPC continued its effective work on important matters related to the defense program."

The AFL statement was made at a surprisingly calm meeting in the name of AFL president William C. Doherty, William L. McFetridge, and William C. Birthright.

Truck Operations Over Labor Day To Be Greatly Curtailed

Truck operation in Pennsylvania over the Labor Day weekend will be eliminated almost entirely except for transportation of perishables and essential materials for defense production, John R. Lesoine, local trucker and chairman in this region for Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, said today.

Mr. Lesoine said that for years the trucking industry has followed this practice in cooperation with governmental and other agencies to promote highway safety and courtesy over three-day holiday weekends.

Lesoine noted that the sharp reduction in truck transportation schedules in the last few years has helped materially to reduce traffic congestion, caused in many instances by highways inadequate to accommodate the number of vehicles operated over them.

Shortage Of Elementary Teachers Felt

Harrisburg (AP) — A shortage of elementary teachers worried state school officials yesterday as preparations were made for the opening of Pennsylvania's Public Schools next Tuesday.

Vacancies still exist across the state for more than 1,000 elementary teachers.

This shortage contrasts with a record throng of 1,654,000 students expected to crowd state schools. This represents an increase of some 58,000 students over the 1950-51 school term.

In addition to the elementary teacher shortage, Dr. Carl D. Mornewick, chief of child accounting and research in the department of public instruction, said about 850 high school teachers also are being sought by schools.

The elementary teacher shortage is expected to hit rural areas hardest, particularly the one-room schools. The shortages are causing school officials to recruit retired teachers into active service. They also plan to license some surplus secondary school teachers for elementary and specialized work.

Dr. Mornewick said 68,000 children are expected to enroll in kindergarten, an increase of 2,000 over last year. He listed the expected elementary enrollment in public schools at 983,000, an increase of 35,000, and the high school enrollment at 603,000, a jump of 21,000 over last year.

The increased enrollment, Dr. Mornewick explained, is the result of the boom in child births during World War Two and the postwar period.

The increase will pose accommodation problems in some school districts, forcing doubling-up methods. School districts have been gradually increasing facilities, but these have not kept pace with enrollment increases, it was explained.

Mount Pocono — A convertible coupe, owned by Robert Barry, a clerk at the Pocono Gardens lodge, was stolen from in front of a Mt. Pocono restaurant yesterday around 5 a.m.

One and one-half hours later the car was sighted by state police from the Blakely sub-station and the driver, identified as Alvyda Bidwell, 23, of Blakely, was arrested. He was being held, pending a hearing in Monroe county.

FBI Agents Carry Wide Spread Roundup Of Communist Agents Into Hawaiian Islands

By Leif Erickson

Honolulu, (AP) — FBI agents carried the national roundup of Communists into Hawaii yesterday in dramatic early morning raids, arresting one woman and six men.

The seven, including labor boss Jack W. Hall, were charged with conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government. Six were identified as members of the Communist party's executive board for Hawaii.

Despite angry protests of Defense counsel, U. S. Commissioner Harry B. Steiner fixed bonds at $75,000 each. He set preliminary hearing for 9 a. m. Thursday.

However, Federal Judge Delbert E. Metzgar at a midday hearing reduced bail to $5,000 for each of the accused Red leaders. The judge said he was "quite certain" the bail fixed by Steiner "was excessive." He added: "Bail was never intended as punishment."

Those charged were: Hall, 36, chief lieutenant in Hawaii of West Coast labor leader Harry Bridges and head of the local unit of Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. The FBI said Hall had held a number of Communist party jobs.

John Ernest Reinecke, 47, former territorial treasurer for the Communist party.

Dwight James Freeman, 39, Hawaii party organizer.

Koji Ariyoshi, 37, editor of the Honolulu Record.

Charles K. Fujimoto, 35, chairman of the Communist Party of Hawaii.

Mrs. Eileen Toshiko Fujimoto, 31, wife of the chairman and identified as an executive board member in 1945.

Jack D. Kimoto, 45, party chairman before World War Two.

All but Freeman were identified by the FBI as members of the Communist executive board for the islands.

At about the same time, the ILWU committee negotiating a new contract with the $120,000,000 Hawaiian sugar industry announced further talks were off until Hall could return to the sessions.

This carried an implied threat of an island-wide sugar strike by 18,500 ILWU plantation workers, whose contract expires midnight Friday.

In Washington, Attorney General McGrath said he regarded the Hawaii arrests as "extremely important in our fight against Communism in the Pacific."

Yesterday arrests made a total of 64 Communist leaders charged with conspiring to teach and advocate the violent, forceful over-

Bangor Soldier Reported As Killed

Bangor—Pvt. Frederick Bossert, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bossert, of Bangor RD3, has been reported as killed in action in Korea.

He was reported as missing in action on February 9, while serving with the 24th Infantry Division, Private Bossert, who enlisted in the Army in July, 1950, received his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

After six weeks at a school in Camp Lee, Va., he was sent to Camp Stoneman, Calif. He left Eight Communists are still fugitives from justice after eluding arrest in four other roundups.

General Electric Gives Raises

New York (AP) — The General Electric Co. yesterday offered its 270,000 workers across the nation a two-and-a-half per cent wage increase, plus a cost of living raise.

The offer would boost G. E. average wages by somewhere above a nickel an hour to about $1.80 or more an hour.

California for Japan in November, 1950, and was then transferred to Korea.

Private Bossert attended Bangor High school and was employed by the Roseto Paper Box Co. before his enlistment.

The big electrical firm unveiled its offer at negotiations with the board offer covering all union and non-union employees, including executives, in G. E.'s 119 plants. Boulware said he didn't think the Federal Wage Stabilization board would have any objection to the two and one half per cent increase.

R-R-RIP!

Under normal circumstances, we're told, bedsheets need replacing about every seven years. And to any woman who hasn't bought sheets since 1944, current prices come as a shock indeed!

But don't blame the people who make the sheets or the people who sell them. Blame the dollar. It just won't buy what it used to.

The dollar is making things mighty tough for us, too.

The cost of supplies and equipment used in the telephone business is going up and up, just like the cost of supplies and equipment for other businesses... and just like the cost of food and household supplies for you.

Take telephone cable, for example. Ten years ago, the cost of cable was $9.10 per 100 feet. Today this same cable is priced at $18.40.

In spite of this, we have been able to provide good, low-cost telephone service that continues to grow in value.

Even if it should cost more, your telephone service, in comparison with other things you buy, would still be a big, big bargain.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

This earlier social deadline has one big drawback. How can I describe the refreshments this winter if you don't eat until after the social page has gone to bed?

To take a case in point, I can't tell you what the blintzes they promised me at Hadassah last night taste like, on account of not having eaten them yet. Sort of a pancake, they tell me, with sour cream.

Sort of going on a gourmet's spree, these days what with blintzes on Tuesday, and the West End's sauerkraut on Wednesday, and the peach festival on Friday. Maybe I could dig out a corn roast for Thursday, huh?

But who's going to worry about the rest of the week. Today's fair day, which for most of us marks the end of summer frivolity far more than Labor day. We might as well enjoy it while we can.

The rest of the week seems solid with bazaars, sales, and last minute efforts to entice the summer visitors to leave some of their money in local society treasures. But they'll get full value for their money, that's for sure.

Enjoy plenty!

Mrs. Mary Strouse is celebrating her birthday today when her daughters, Roseanna Byles and Gladys Decker are planning to hold a birthday party in her honor.

Report Cards Won't Worry These Children

New York—Kansas City school children who learned that the recent flood wouldn't keep their schools from opening have finally received some good news.

The old-style report cards have been discarded.

Instead, they'll have new progress report cards that are said to be a step ahead of anything attempted by other U. S. school systems.

During the past twenty years the most progressive step in grading school children has been the system using "O" for outstanding, "S" for satisfactory and "U" for unsatisfactory.

In the new Kansas City system there will be no forms of comparison of pupils. There will be no marks on the cards. It will just be a record of the growth of the child.

"We are trying to meet each child at the educational and ability level at which he stands," says Miss Barbara Henderson, director of elementary education. She points out that the child is in school to learn, not merely to make good grades. She adds there is no justification for ruling that a child who makes 75 is failing.

The primary school card has 11 classifications. These include such divisions as work habits; social attitudes; arithmetic; reading; science; writing and language. Under each the teacher grades the pupil as to his particular ability and not in competition with another pupil.

There is space in the back of each card for comments. Here the teacher may jot down that Johnny seems to be having difficulty in mastering English, or he needs help in his spelling.

In each case the parents are asked to sit down and discuss means of helping Johnny overcome his handicaps, working closely with the teacher.

Development of this new system, which originated by many requests of the parents for a more practical means of grading the pupils, started one year ago.

History Of Jennings Clan Is Reviewed

Bangor—Mrs. Miles Green, of Eighth St. Stroudsburg, gave a lengthy and detailed report of the Jennings clan dating back to 1773 at the thirtieth annual meeting of the Jennings' family held on August 26 in Memorial Park, Bangor.

Floyd Jennings, president, presided at the meeting which was attended by 150 family members. Chief Burgess Hayden Pritchard addressed the group. Mrs. Green, who is family historian, carried the history back to the days of the Indians, as ancestors settled in different parts of the state and county.

Officers elected included Floyd Jennings, Flicksville, president; J. Frank Jennings, Bangor, R. D., vice president; Edward R. Anthony, Messinger St., Bangor, secretary; Paul Kressler, Bangor, treasurer; Mrs. Miles Green, Stroudsburg, and Milton Jennings, Philadelphia, historians.

The sport committee includes Mrs. Carl Weaver, Bangor; Horace Jennings, Stroudsburg; Granville Jennings, Wind Gap RD and Miss Marie Jennings and Mrs. Paul Kressler, Bangor.

The following were prizewinners: Mrs. Susan Frutchey, 87, Bangor, oldest lady; Mathias Jennings, 83, Newton, N. J., oldest man; youngest baby girl, 17-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jennings Jr., and youngest baby boy, 20-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shoemaker, both of Bangor; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hutchison, Bangor, newlyweds; Mrs. Florence Judice, Brooklyn, N. Coeds Scorn Washday Blues With New School Washables

By Vivian Brown (AP News Service Writer)

It's a smart college girl who packs washability into her suitcase. That way she can look like a chick any hour of the school day.

Mary coed used to pack her laundry at the end of the week and send it off to Mom. Nowadays with easy-to-wash nylon and winter-weight cotton, the average student can do her laundry with soap and hot water right in her own washbasin and have her favorite skirt or shirt always available.

Winter-weight cottons are here in menswear-type suitings, ready to go from the first cool days right through the fall. They come in rich, dark colors, textured to drape and tailor well. Old fashioned tartan plaids, modern plaids, stripes, checks and other schoolgirl favorite are available in easy-to-care-for cotton. Many are treated for wrinkle resistance, shrinkage control, and are yarn-dyed for color-fastness.

Especially useful for the soap and water wardrobe are striped or checked skirts of winter-weight cottons. The natural companion to such a skirt is a cotton winter sweater or T-shirt, with raised knitted patterns that give high style and durability. Quilted, checked denim; heavy madras designs in bold stripes; striped wools are all made up into sporty clothes good for city or country campus.

The chic girl doesn't try to make dark colors go a long time without washing. She knows they accumulate soot, body odors and perspiration the same as her light clothes which show soil readily.

A cold weather wardrobe can be kept fresh and pretty with little time and effort. Skirts, T-shirts, vests or slacks can be washed through moderately warm soapsuds. Wash colored clothes separately without soaking. If cuffs or neckbands are unusually soiled, use a soft, soapy brush on them before dropping the entire garment into the suds.

SPCA Board Plans Dog Week Program

Plans for special local observance of National Dog Week were discussed at the special executive meeting of the Monroe County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals held Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Emmerich, of Minisink Hills.

Miss Wealthy Kortz was appointed general chairman of the observance and will meet with her committee within the next few days. National Dog Week is sponsored by the American Humane Society, of which Enzo Pinza is chairman this year.

The executive board also voted to rent a post office box for the society, so that there would be a permanent address for communications regardless of change of officers.

They will also recommend to the society that open meetings be held once a month this winter. The matter will be further discussed at the regular SPCA meeting to be held Tuesday September 11, at the Municipal building in Stroudsburg, where the meetings will be held this winter.

Present for the meeting were Harry Bolich, Miss Wealthy Kortz, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarence Shafer, Mrs. Louis Hopke, Mrs. Louis Ingersoll, Mrs. Velma Lanterman, Dr. Clarence Dupee, Mrs. Willis Goddard, Mrs. Ellen Albenzi and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Emmerich.

Local 4-H Clubs Rank High In Merit At County Rally

Seven of the girls' 4-H clubs of the county held their annual fall roundup last week at the firehall in Saylorsburg, climax of their summer's work with their local leaders and Miss Margaret MacLaren, county home economics extension representative.

The girls spent the morning arranging their exhibits, which were judged by Miss Mabel Satterthwaite, assistant supervisor of home economics extension work at Pennsylvania State College.

To the Kunkletown, Bartonsville and Hamilton Square 4-H clubs went gold medals for 100 per cent completion of their work while the Saylorsburg and Cherry Valley 4-H clubs received silver medals for 85 per cent completion.

Miss Satterthwaite complimented the girls and their leaders for the excellence of their exhibits and the unusual number of blue ribbons, attesting the thoroughness of their work.

The hostess group of Saylorsburg had ample chance to demonstrate their project "Outdoor Cookery," when they prepared and served the noon luncheon for the entire group. Kunkletown also had chance outdoor cooking, while Kreszeville and Bartonsville had as their projects "It's Fun to Cook."

During the program in the afternoon, the other three clubs: Cherry Valley, Hamilton Square and Hamilton township, presented a fashion show, modeling the skirts and dresses which were their summer projects. Mrs. Jacob Hartman played the musical accompaniment for the style show.

A Tom Thumb wedding was presented by the Bartonsville group, and the Hamilton group presented a quartette in musical numbers with Mrs. Harry Hobbs as accompanist.

Summer is a good time to wash feather pillows. Choose a dry, windy day when the sun is hot. For best results, empty feathers into a large muslin bag three or four times as big as the pillow to be washed. This is done by opening one end of the pillow ticking and sewing the opening to the mouth of the muslin bag, which then is sewing together at the top. Wash muslin bag of feathers either by hand or in washing machine, using preferably a detergent, which leaves no soap scum. After thorough rinsing drain and shake out as much water as possible, but do not put through wringer. Hang bag to dry, shaking and fluffing several times during the process. The ticking is washed separately, and when both are dry, feathers

National Bank Wins First Game Of Series, 9-5

Methodists Bow In Little League

East Stroudsburg National Bank scored seven runs in the bottom half of the fourth inning to break a 2-2 deadlock last night, and went on to trounce the Methodists, 9-5, in the first game of a best-two-out-of-three series to decide the 1951 East Stroudsburg Little League champions.

A barrage of home runs by Dave Hughes, Ervin Smith, and Dave Heckman, turned the game into a rout as the first-half champions, mixing eight hits with six Methodist miscues kept Bob Dellaria in hot water throughout the game.

No Trouble
Except for a brief flurry of three runs in the fifth, Heckman, National Bank pitcher, was never in much trouble and coasted easily to the win.

Dave Hughes was the leading hitter for the winners as he went two for three at the plate. Bob Dellaria and Johnny Vogt, Methodist battery mates, paced their team in the hitting department, with two hits apiece.

Tonight at 6 o'clock on the East Stroudsburg playground, these two teams will meet in the second game of the series. This is a "must" game for the Methodists, because a National Bank win will end the series and make the latter champions for 1951.

Chisox Edge Senators, 4-3

Chicago, (AP)—Ray Coleman's double scored Nelson Fox with the winning run after two were out in the tenth inning as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Washington Senators 4-3, before 20,008 persons last night.

Fox set the stage for Harry Dorris's third straight victory over Washington by opening the home half of the overtime inning with a single to right.

Sixth Loss
At Zerrilla, sacrificed, and Orestes Minoso was purposely passed, Dick Porterfield, the losing pitcher who suffered his sixth setback as the Senators' five game win streak was ended, got the second out when Eddie Robinson popped to Cass Michaels.

Coleman followed with a sharp double down the left field liner to score Fox with the clincher counter.

Dorris stepped the Senators on eight hits in his fifth victory against three losses. The White Sox racked Porterfield for nine in Chicago's twenty-third one-run victory in 40 such games this season. Washington 010 002 000 0—3 8 1 Chicago 030 000 000 1—4 9 0

South Bend, Ind., (AP)—The Rev. Father John J. Cavanaugh, president of the University of Notre Dame, said yesterday students expelled from the university cannot be readmitted along with Cadets who were expelled from West Point recently.

Cubs Shutout Braves, 1-0

Boston, (AP)—The Boston Braves, who had won nine of their last ten games, were blanked 1-0 last night by the Chicago Cubs as only 3,831 fans paid their way into foggy Braves Field. Doubles by "Turk" Lown and Hal Jeffcoat scored the only run in the fifth inning.

Lown, who pitched his third victory, crashed a one out two-bagger to right, took third on an infield out and scampered home when Jeffcoat, now a resident of nearby Gloucester, belted his two base hit into right field.

Lost Six
Lown, who has lost six games, gave up only four hits. Chet Nichols, young Boston southpaw who was seeking his ninth victory but suffered his fifth loss, gave the Cubs only five hits.

Shortstop Bob Raines was spiked on the left forearm by the sliding Sibby Sisti as he reached for a low throw by Eddie Miksis on a potential force play in the fifth inning.

IS HE SAFE?—Bob Dellaria, of the Methodists, is caught safe at third base by umpire Tommy Sommers, who is also pictured above. However, it appears as if Dellaria never reached the bag, as his hand is resting on the foot of National Bank third sacker, Irvin Smith. The Bank went on to win the first game of the playoff, 9-5.

Kennedy's Seventh Inning Circuit Blow Gives Indians Favorable Decision Over Philadelphia

Cleveland, (AP)—Right Fielder Bob Kennedy lofted a home run into the lower stands last night, giving the first place Cleveland 1 to 0 victory over Philadelphia. It was Kennedy's fourth homer of the season and he got it off Sam Zolack, ex-Cleveland southpaw.

A crowd of 23,574 watched Bob's seventh inning clout give the Indians their 12th straight victory over the Athletics.

Snider Leads Dodgers To Nod Over Reds

Brooklyn, (AP)—"Duke" Snider drove in all of Brooklyn's runs last night as rookie Clem Labine pitched the Dodgers to a 3 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Snider snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning, hitting his 28th homer of the season with a man on base. Labine yielded seven hits in his first major league start.

The victory increased the first place Dodgers' lead in the National League to six games over the New York Giants.

Snider's drive into the left-center field stands came after Pee Wee Reese had singled and stole second with two out.

Ninth
It was the ninth straight time the Dodgers have beaten Howie Fox, who hasn't won a game from Brooklyn since 1948.

Brooklyn scored its first run in the fourth inning when Carl Furillo singled and went to second as Reese grounded out. Snider brought Furillo home when he singled through short. Jackie Robinson hit into a double play to end the inning.

Cincinnati knotted the score in the sixth at 1-1. Lloyd Merriman beat out a hit to the mound, but was out stealing. Sonnie Ryan singled, and went to third on a single by Johnny Wyrostek. Ted Kinszowski lined to Andy Pafo in left and Ryan scored after the catch.

Labine, called up from St. Paul of the American association recently, struck out nine Redlegs and didn't issue a base on ball in his performance before a Ladies' night throng of 35,200 in jammed Ebbets Field.

The 25-year-old Labine has made seven relief appearances for Brooklyn, without a decision.

It was the eleventh defeat of the season or Fox, who has won seven. The last time he beat Brooklyn was a 4-3 decision over Joe Hatten, September 15, 1948.

The paid attendance was only 15,200, but more than 20,000 ladies crowded into the park, and another 10,000 men and women were turned back at the gates. The game started ten minutes late because of the jam outside.

Niagara Falls Wins

Niagara Falls, N. Y., (AP)—The Niagara Falls Citizens won the second half pennant of the Class "C" Middle Atlantic League last night by sweeping in doubleheader from the Butler Pirates.

The league's split season will end Thursday. Niagara will meet the Erie Sailors, first-half winners, in a best-of-seven playoffs, starting Friday night in Erie.

They added another in the sixth when Billy Johnson walked, was sacrificed to second by Del Rice and scored on Remus' hit to right.

Labine was in trouble in only two innings in the first frame. Ed Watkins singled and Riehe Ashburn doubled. Tommy Brown then fled out but Del Ennis was intentionally walked to load the socks. Lanier, however, made Willie Jones foul to Del Rice and got Gran Hamner on a fly to center.

In the eighth with one out Ashburn beat out a hit to short and Tommy Brown got a scratch hit. Lanier picked Ashburn off second when the latter tried to steal third. Then the Cards caught Brown for a double play.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Frank Radler, successful manager of the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1948, 1949 and 1950 and pennant winning pilot at DeLand, Fla., in the class "D" Florida State league this year, telephoned this writer yesterday to inform us all that Billy Mostersky had been married at home plate on Sunday night, to a DeLand girl. Billy, who Radler calls easily the best shortstop in the Florida State league, held down a similar position with the Poconos when the North Atlantic league was in operation last year.

Radler himself has been on the shelf in recent weeks, having broken a small bone in his right foot. Frank also reported that Jack Rothenhauser is having a great season since joining the DeLand club from Lakeland, of the class "B" Florida International league. Jack recently slammed a home run in the tenth inning to win for DeLand. Rothenhauser has accounted for three round trippers since joining the Radlermen. Frank's club clinched the pennant more than a week ago and now has high hopes of capturing the playoff title too.

Bob Minnich, a member of the Hazleton, North Atlantic league, mound corps last season, is pitching for DeLand this year. Radler and family expect to return to their home in Redders as soon as the Florida State league playoff grind comes to an end, as the veteran righthander can't wait to return to this area, after spending a hot summer in Florida. Although Frank's club ran away with the pack this season, the likeable chucker believes his 1949 Stroudsburg club was much better, although the DeLand club must have been plenty alright to nail down the flag so early.

In an effort to settle a little dispute that arose at an East Stroudsburg Little League game recently, here's a quote from the official baseball rules that may help to prove the umpire right on that occasion—"Any base runner is out when hit by a batted ball before it has touched or passed an infielder. The ball is dead and no run may score, nor runners advance, except runners who are forced to advance by the batter becoming a base runner." A situation covered by this rule arose in a recent Little League contest at the East Stroudsburg playground and caused quite a bit of comment, so this writer has been informed.

Blue Mountain league baseball turns into the final lap today, when Pocono A. C. and Roseto A. A. open a best two-out-of-three game playoff series for the President's Cup, at East Bangor at 6 p. m. Following this series football will take over in the localities that were dominated by the Blue Mountain Baseball league throughout the summer months. This final series should really be a honey, as both teams built up a terrific rivalry during the regular season, with Roseto holding a 2-1 edge over the charges of Manager John Schoonover during the regular game.

Betty Louise Stefany, Northampton resident and a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, has been named an instructor of physical education and girls' health at Catawissa High school for the coming term. While attending ESSTC, where she was graduated in June of 1950, Betty played both field hockey and basketball, as well as performing on the gym team. George Garbino Shaffer was the outstanding spectator at last Sunday's costume Scotch-foursome golf tournament at Glen Brook Country club, according to Mike Rutish, head pro.

Harry Warner, first baseman for the Evansville, Ind., entry in the class "B" Three "I" league, is expected to return to his home in Redders around the sixteenth of next month. Gerald Bonser, catcher for the Tannersville entry in the Pocono Mountains league, was sent to the Monroe County General hospital on Sunday after suffering head injuries in a collision at home plate in the second game of a doubleheader with West End A. C., on Tannersville's home grounds at Pocono High school.

Passengers Unhurt

Pittsburgh, (AP)—A twin engine Cessna airplane, carrying five executives of the Thatcher Glass Co., Elmira, N. Y., crashed at the Allegheny County airport yesterday.

The passengers and a crew of two walked away unhurt.

Pilot John Mathosky said the brakes failed when he set the plane down. It crashed at the end of a runway.

Confirmed As Judge

Washington, (AP)—Luther W. Youngdahl, Governor of Minnesota, was confirmed by the senate yesterday as a U. S. District judge for the District of Columbia. Youngdahl is a Republican. He succeeds the late T. Alan Goldsborough.

Cavilan To Meet Graham In Title Bout

New York (AP)—Overshadowed completely by the coming Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin return, welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and Billy Graham of New York battle it out in a 15-round title bout tonight with the Cuban rated a big 13 to five favorite.

All the talk around town is about Randy and Ray and Gavilan's first title defense in Madison Square Garden hasn't created much of a ripple.

Although somewhat nettled over the lack of attention, the boxers aren't too concerned, financially speaking. They will cut in on the handsome $50,000 fee for the CES radio and telecast of the 10 p.m. (EDT) bout and figure to share in a gross gate of around $40,000. Gavilan will collect around $20,000 and Graham $20,000 on a 32 1/2-27 1/2 per cent split.

Out Of Line

Judging by their two previous meetings, the long odds seem to be out of line. Graham and Gavilan fought twice last year with Billy winning a split decision the first time. The sleek Cuban evened the score with a split verdict in the second bout.

Toting up the scorecards of the six officials for the two fights, you wind up with a razor-thin 28 to 27 edge in rounds for Gavilan with five even. Not enough to rate a 13 to five price.

The odds-makers, however, are going by the late form. The 25-year-old Gavilan had just returned from his honeymoon when he met Graham on February 10 and lost. They met again on November 17, and the Kid was faster and sharper.

Gavilan won that one and he hasn't been beaten since. He has swept ten in a row, including his 15-round victory over Johnny Bratton on May 18 which earned him the title.

Applegate Triumphs

Morristown, N. J. (AP)—Nelson Applegate of Denville grabbed the 25-lap, 12 one-half mile feature stock car race at Morristown Raceway last night.

Al Tibbets of Newportville, Pa., was second and Bill Tanner, Newtown, Pa., third.

Surprises Feature Third Round Of National Tennis Championships On Forest Hills' Courts

by Gayle Talbot

Forest Hills, N. Y. (AP)—Red-headed Earl Cochell of Los Angeles, who specializes in knocking foreign stars out of the National Tennis Championships, came up with his annual feedback special yesterday when he ousted England's current champion, Tony Mottram, in the third round of play by scores of 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6.

Little Henri Rochon of Vancouver, gained one of the day's most surprising triumphs when he outlasted young Don Candy of Australia, the sixth seeded foreigner, in a grueling five-setter 8-6, 8-10, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

Unfortunately for him, Henri's fourth round opponent will be the rampant Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, the Navy's newest secret weapon, who overpowered Jack Geller of Greenwich, Conn., 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Significant Match

All the biggest guns came through the day without too much trouble, and what promises to be a highly significant match was set up for the next round when both Sedgman and Billy Talbert of New York City won in straight sets.

Frank Sedgman defeated George Ball of New York City 6-4, 6-0, 6-2 and Talbert ousted Frumiteru Nakano of Japan, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

Talbert, who with several others, is dying to make the trip to Australia with the American Davis Cup team in November, could clinch himself a berth by defeating the Aussie ace. He might do so even by making it reasonably close.

Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., the tournament favorite, had a rugged first set yesterday against Lorne Main, the young Canadian corner, but eventually wore the kid down with his overwhelming service and won by 7-5, 6-3, 6-2. Savitt's next victim will be Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., who eliminated Syd Levy of South Africa, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, seeded fourth among the home boys, lazed to a 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 win over Bill Vogt of Drexel Hill, Pa. He will meet Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N. J., who subdued Conway Catton of Alameda, Calif., 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

Alone of the highly seeded, Budge Patty of Los Angeles was forced to an extra set in downing the veteran former Czech, Ladislav Hecht, 7-5, 11-9, 3-6, 6-4. His next opponent probably will be Mervyn Rose of Australia, who remained a round behind the field.

Tough Going

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia had to fight off two set points in the opening set before he convinced Fred Fisher of Seattle by scores of 8-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Mulloy advanced at the expense of Maj. Geney Van Rensselaer, of Washington, D. C., 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, and Jean Quertier of England led the women's field into the quarter-final round.

Tigers Inflict Costly Defeat On Red Sox

Detroit (AP)—Detroit Tiger third baseman George Kell punched out a two run single in the eighth to enable the Detroiters to come from behind yesterday and nip the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in the opener of a three game series.

Kell, who surged into the American League batting Monday, picked up a pair of singles off Mel Parnell who lost his ninth game and his second straight to Detroit.

Red Sox rookie third baseman Mel Hoderlein was the goat of the day as he came up with a pair of costly fielding errors and was called out on an interference play while the third place Boston club had the bases loaded in the fourth.

He also figured in Kell's game winning hit, a vicious grounder which took a bad hop and struck him on the shoulder as he was set to handle it.

Errors Hurt

Hoderlein's two errors in the first three innings were largely responsible for the three run lead which Detroit picked up against Parnell. The more costly was a wild heave on a bouncer off Kell's bat, Hoderlein throwing the ball to right field for a three base error in the second. Kell scored a minute later on Johnny Groth's single.

The Red Sox picked up a run in the fourth on singles by Ted Williams and Walt Dropo and walks to Clyde Vollmer and Hoderlein. The latter walk forced in the tally but Hoderlein was called out a minute later for interference as Tiger second baseman Jerry Pridy tried to field a grounder off Parnell's bat.

The Red Sox put three hits and a walk together to take the lead in the seventh with Billy Goodman driving in two runs to give Boston a 4-3 lead.

Two straight singles and a walk loaded the bases in the eighth and brought Ellis Kinder on in a relief role. Kell greeted him with the game winning single.

Hal White, third Tiger pitcher, got credit for the win, his second of the year.

Williamsport, Pa. (AP)—Three men's teams and four women's groups were certified yesterday for the 1951 Central Atlantic Region softball championships opening here Friday.

The men's teams are the Derricks Firemen, Bradford, Pa., Pennsylvania Champions; the Norfolk, Va., Navy Flyers, Virginia champions, and the host Williamsport Pickelers.

The women qualifiers are the defending champion Garvin's Grill of Washington, D. C.; the Pottstown, Pa., Cardinals, Pennsylvania winners; the Norfolk, Va., Naval Base Waves, and Clay Oak, of Wilmington, Del.

Durocher Takes Loss To Bucs In Stride After Long Streak

New York (AP)—"One foot made the difference," Leo Durocher said, then added philosophically: "Oh well, 16 out of 17 isn't so bad."

He was commenting on the Giants' 2-0 defeat by Pittsburgh yesterday, a defeat which snapped their winning string at 16, and the foot he referred to wasn't Eddie Stanky's boot which gave the Pirates the first of their runs.

"That second double of Bobby Thomson's missed being a home run by just a foot," Durocher amplified. "That was in the seventh and would have given us a one-run lead and we might have played it different after that."

While the skipper was replaying the game in his private office his players moped around in their big dressing room, a thoughtful, dejected crew in contrast to the carefree athletes who boomed through to a doubleheader victory Monday.

No Talk

They weren't in the mood for talk, but, as Durocher said, they might have felt a certain relief that the tension of maintaining a winning string was over, although prior to the game they gave no outward sign of tension.

Someone asked Durocher what happened out there, meaning what happened in the eighth inning when Willie Mays and Don Mueller let an easy fly ball drop in front of them, giving the Pirates their second run.

"I don't know," he answered. "I never asked them. I never said anything about it. They feel worse than you, or I, or anybody else about it. Why don't one of you be my emissary and find out?"

One of the reporters went into the locker room and returned shortly.

"What did they say," Durocher asked.

"Mays said that he yelled for Mueller to take it, and Mueller had been given an error on the play."

The fact remained that you can't win games without scoring runs, and Durocher had something to say about that, too.

"That Howie Pollet pitched one whole of a game," he admitted grudgingly. "It took a shutout to beat us. I'll say now what I've been thinking all the time since the streak started. I thought then: 'I'd like to see us put on a drive.' Now I'm ready to start another one. How many games are there left? Twenty-seven? I'll try 16 more in a row."

Explanation

Stanky, who left the game for a pinch runner in the eighth, had dressed hurriedly and departed. Durocher, who never is critical of mechanical errors, explained Eddie's costly bobble.

"It was a hard-hit ball and took a bad hop in front of him," he said. "He got his hands on it, but it just trickled off the top of his glove and he couldn't pick it up."

It may or may not have been an omen, but before the game the loud speaker which assails the ears of the Polo grounds guests with popular tunes blared forth a song about enjoying yourself because it's later than you think.

A big guy with a big 37 on his back hummed an accompaniment

Eagles, P. K. Gain Favorable Softball Nods

Line Material fell before the Eagles, 5-2, and Patterson-Kelley edged Worthington Mower, 3-1, in the two Monroe County Softball league games played last night.

"Hank" Goldy, Eagles' pitcher, was in rare form as he allowed only two hits throughout the seven inning contest played at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school field. Fegley, Eagles' third sacker, delivered the telling blow in the sixth, when with the score knotted at one apiece, he doubled home three runs to clinch the verdict.

Fegley, Harold Sisco and Jim Bevan each had two hits for the winners.

Close Verdict

With "Abe" Wolbert holding Worthington Mower runless for six innings, Patterson-Kelley squeaked through to a close win at the East Stroudsburg playground. Marc Decker, Worthington pitcher, was tough in the clutch and managed to hold the winners to only three runs.

Metzgar's homer in the last inning provided the only run for the losing team.

Tonight's schedule finds Tucker's Chevrolet playing Union Printers at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school field, and Kulp's Foundry meeting Line Material at the East Stroudsburg playground. Both games are listed for 6:15.
